ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Peter Cox is an experienced and highly motivated organiser and Negotiator. He is strongly committed to, and energised by project management which reflects in local community capacity to develop businesses and enterprise opportunities in a sustainable model.

He has been involved in community affairs for 40 years working on a wide range of social issues including public safety on the roads, housing and tenancy, the environment, employment and training among others.

As CEO Of Future Employment Opportunities Inc he has demonstrated that community non-profit organisations can operate using community assets rather than depend on Government funding as their major source of income.

He has organised a number of Social Enterprises which include: On Track Training, Employment & Business Solutions, Eaglehawk Recovery & Sales Yard, Detail Badges & Castings, Enhance IT, TradeStart and Regional Enterprise Network—Central Victoria Ltd.

Peter talks about:

- The community business approach offers an appropriate technology that is within the reach of all of us. It is something do-able for those who are concerned about unemployment and the decline of our communities.
- Often the abilities to be socially conscious and 'hard-nosed' do not co-exist in the same person. The obvious technique is to seek a mixed board with different members representing different concerns and bringing different kinds of skills to the table.
